

CONNECTICUT BANKERS ASSOCIATION

Cindy has over forty years of experience in the banking industry and is currently the Chief Executive Officer of Union Savings Bank, a $3.0 billion mutual bank headquartered in Danbury, Connecticut that operates 24 full-service branches throughout western Connecticut.

Cindy is past Chair of the Connecticut Bankers Association, making history as the first female to serve in this role. She continues her service as a voice for community banks in Connecticut and is currently a member of the American Bankers Association Government Relations Council, serves on the Board of Directors of Prosperi-Key, a unit of United Way of Western Connecticut and sits on the CEO Strategic Planning Advisory Council for FIS, a leading core processor.

Cindy's unwavering passion to give back to the community is evident in everything she does. As President of the Bank's charitable Foundation, she was instrumental in creating the Union Savings Bank Teachers' Closet whose mission is to provide free school supplies to teachers in communities where students and their families experience extreme financial challenges. Today, over 21,000 items have been distributed to more than 130 teachers in our local communities.

Cindy is a recipient of Boston's Banker and Tradesman Women of Fire award, a lifetime achievement award from the Massachusetts Mortgage Bankers Association, the Connecticut Yankee's Council Good Scout award and is in the Junior Achievement of Greater Fairfield County's Hall of Fame. Cindy is also a past recipient of the Women in Business award for the Hartford Business Journal.
